Since the timeslip GFWL remover does not always work correctly, I recommend using Catspaw's GFWL emu, also it can save game option :)

I attached to this post last working version.

Right now it's 15d

how to place DLC correctly?

put files in:

..\Fable 3\DLC\01_Understone\content*.*

..\Fable 3\DLC\01_Understone\content.xbx

..\Fable 3\DLC\02_TraitorsKeep\content*.*

..\Fable 3\DLC\02_TraitorsKeep\content.xbx

if you dont have content.xbx file then create one by copying the following text

Understone DLC

Actually I wrote this "content.xbx" by myself and for those who want to add mods, there is only two main values that need to change, is NAMEs (maybe is not needed) and ContentID (definitely NEED) so, how to get ContentID for you own mod?

you can just write random numbers, but easiest way is calculate SHA-1 hash of "yourMod.bnk.dat"

also remember to specify it in "package_collection_info.xmb" too, with prefix 0x

Thanks for hooking me up with this, Artofeel! It cleared up TONS of problems I was having!

For folks who have already started a game and don't want to lose their progress, it's too easy to go into the new xlive.ini and change your 16 digit code to match your existing character's code

C:\Users\%User%\Saved Games\Lionhead Studios\Fable

3#####\hero1autosave_*.bin

As advertised, this emu allows you to save your settings, too!

did you used timeslip SaveGame Editor to convert your save game?
if not -- do it.
